President's Message

By Greg Galletti

Hey, fellow collectors. I wanted to add this note to the Journal to let you know of a couple of activities your Board is currently working on that will be of interest to you. The first is the upcoming APS Ameristamp Expo in Mesa, Arizona, the weekend of February 14-17, 2019, where the UNPI will have a club booth and host a meeting on UN Philately on Saturday, February 16th from 11:00 AM until Noon. We will have a couple of special presentations on UN stamps and will be holding a special ceremony to award this year's recipient of the Richard "Dick" Powers Lifetime Achievement Award. In addition, we are once again fielding the UN Avengers, an All-UN Team, in the team exhibiting competition. This year's is comprised of myself, Larry Fillion, Fran Adams, Clem Clement and Chris Dahle.

Proposed Logo for Show

Our second big announcement is that your board is once again working with the APS to hold a special WSP exhibition of all UN and UN Related material as a result of our great successful UNEXPO 17 in October of 2017. This new show is being considered once again for October in 2021, to coincide with the 70th anniversary of the first UN Stamps. I hope to be able to provide more details about this special exhibition once we receive formal approval by the APS and CANEJ Boards. Stay tuned and Happy Collecting.

Auction Guidelines

By B. Clement, Jr.

The UNPI Auction is one of the more popular features of UNP Membership. Over the years that I have been managing the auction, probably 30% of our members have taken advantage of the auction by selling unwanted UN material, or by bidding in the auction to try to acquire wanted UN gems that they have not found elsewhere. I urge you to participate. By doing so, you can benefit yourself and the club.

If you have something you would like to sell, please send me a list of your items, with a proposed minimum bid (MB). I generally advise sellers to set the MB at no more than 30% of the Gaines catalog value. The best results often result from bidding competition which is prompted by an attractive starting price. I will review your offerings, and accept material that I judge to be likely to sell.

If you see something offered in the auction that you would like to add to your collection, the amount of your bid should reflect how badly you want the item. Remember, if no one else bids, you win the lot at the MB. And even if there is competition, the selling price is just one increment higher than the second highest bid. Bidding is "blind", in that you don't know what the other bids are until the auction is over, when the second highest bid is revealed to bidders.

I have had complaints that the winner must have known what to bid, since he/she won it at slightly more than the complainer's bid. That's the way it works! The winning bidder may have really wanted it, and bid high, like 5 or 10 times the MB. Let's say the MB is $20, you bid $30, and another bidder bids $100. The high bidder wins the lot at $32, one increment over your bid.

Bids should be in the increments listed on the bid on the back wrapper. In not, they will be reduced to the next lower increment. For example, if you bid $57, your bid will be reduced to $55. This might make a difference if there was another bidder, an earlier bidder, who bid $55. That bidder would win over you, since his $55 bid arrived first.

If you don't see lots in your UN area, let me know what you would like to see, and I'll make an effort to find material to list that you might like.

Diwali Festival– New York Personalized Sheet

On October 19, 2018, UNPA issued a New York special event sheet to commemorate the festival of Diwali. Diwali, also known as Deepawali is the joyous and popular festival of lights, which is celebrated in India and by followers of many faiths across the world. During the five-day celebration clay lamps known as diyas are lit to signify the victory of good over evil. The festival also symbolizes the start of a New Year for many communities. The sheet in the denomination of $1.15 contains ten stamps and tabs featuring festive lights and the symbolic lamps known as diyas. The background of the sheet features the UN Headquarters building illuminated with the message of “Happy Diwali” to celebrate the spirit of the festival. The sheet is shown on the Back Cover.

VERONA 2018 - VERONAFIL, Verona, Italy Special Event Mini-Sheet

On November 23, 2018, UNPA issued a new special event three stamp mini-sheet in the denominations of US$ 1.15, CHF 2.00 and € 1.80 to commemorate the 131st VERONAFIL stamp show in Italy November 23-25, 2018. The stamp sheet features the Aida opera with the Arena di Verona. The sheet was illustrated by Chris Thornock (United States). A quantity of 18,000 were printed by La Poste (France).

THAILAND 2018 World Stamp Exhibition- Overprinted Special Event Mini-Sheet

On November 28, 2018, UNPA issued an overprinted special event mini-sheet to commemorate the Thailand 2018 World Stamp Exhibition in Bangkok, Thailand. The stamp sheet is the $1.15 Dance sheet from 2016 International Dance Day.

Chinese Lunar Calendar – Year of the Pig New York Special Event Sheet $1.15

On January 11, 2019, UNPA continued its Chinese Lunar Calendar series with the issuance of a special event sheet celebrating the Year of the Pig. This is the tenth sheet issued for UNPA’s Lunar New Year stamp series. The sheet is composed on ten $1.15 denominated stamps with the United Nations logo. The tabs of the stamps and background design feature artwork designed by Wu Shining (China). The full sheet is shown on the Front Cover.

A History of UN Collecting - UN Clubs, Part 6

Club of UN Collectors (CUNC)

In the Fall of 1968 a group of predominantly New York-based collectors decided to launch a new UN collectors group called the Club of UN Collectors. The Organization, founded by Richard Beresford, Viola Ilma, and Viola's cousin, her Ethiopian-Swiss cousin Honor R. Holland, was primarily aimed at educating young collectors about the UN and its stamps. This seems fitting as Viola had a lifelong passion regarding youth activism. She wrote "And Now, Youth!" a book published in 1934 about American young people, and in 1936, she organized the first American Youth Congress, a meeting in New York City of youth groups from across the nation.

Together they started publishing a nice 8.5 x 11 multi-page newsletter, called "The UN Collector." The first issue comprised of 12 pages was released in January 1969 and contained some very nice articles on UN collecting, including one by David Alexander (who was a long-standing officer in the United Nations Philatelic Society), entitled "Why Not Collect UN Stamps." (Figure 1) Each issue of the newsletter, published monthly except for July and August, contained interesting articles about UN activities and information about upcoming UN stamps. The publication contained some very lovely images provided by the UN Department of Public Information and helped educate a generation about the organization. Other notable contributors included Mel Garabrandt, William Numeroff, and Dr. P.J. West.

One nice feature of the newsletter was that it was mailed from the UN Headquarters, and often had a very nice slogan or roller cancel for the recipient. In addition to the newsletter, the CUNC was instrumental in establishing and promoting the INJUNPEX International Youth Philatelic Exhibitions. The first such show was held at the Hotel Biltmore in New York City, in July of 1974. Several souvenir covers and cards are known from the exhibition, as well as special slogan cancels and cachets (Figures 2,3,4,5). INJUNPEX exhibitions continued until at least 1979. The second was held in Guadalajara, Mexico

July 6-12, 1975 (Figures 6-7). An INJUNPEX was held in New York in 1979 as part of the ASDA National Postage Stamp Show.

I have several pieces of correspondence from the club including various legal size envelopes bearing interesting illustrated corner cards (Figures 8, 9, 10), and a larger mailer which I believe were used to distribute the newsletters in latter years (Figure 11). Most of these bore a return address from PO Box 400 Madison Square Station, New York, NY 10010, however sometime prior to May 1973 the address PO Box 238, Glenside, PA 19038 was used.

My last known issue of "The UN Collector," is Volume 4 number 3 issued in August 1973. Again, this issue was mailed from the Glenside, PA address (Figure 12). I'm not sure why the club ceased to continue after this time. I presume the Executive Editor, Richard Beresford, focused on other activities, and I understand he and Ms. Ilma relocated to Saratoga, New York, sometime in the early 1980's.

The UN Headquarters Exhibit Epilogue #2

by Greg Galletti

In this addition of the UN Headquarters exhibit we shall focus on the final addition to the current exhibit that presents some of the wonderful artwork donated to the UN by member-nations. See Centerfold. The UN Headquarters is really a world-class museum filled with beautiful paintings, sculptures, tapestries, carvings, and even stained glass. The major assembly halls in the complex were gifts of Denmark, Finland, and Sweden and several of their famed artists and architects. Note also with this newest version, in addition to the demarcation lines to separate the storylines, I have added Section numbers to match those provided on the title page plan. These two simple but effective modifications provides a clear roadmap for the viewer to understand where in the exhibit they are and what specific material supports a given portion of the story. Happy Collecting.

16. The Interior Design and Artwork from Around the World

While construction of the buildings continued the Architects and Engineers toiled over the requirements for the Headquarters interior spaces. Consideration was given to the number and compliment of member nation representatives to the Economic and Social Council, Security Council, and Trusteeship Council, as well as all the supporting staff necessary to carry out the functions of the respective organizations. Accommodations for guests and dignitaries were also evaluated; as was space for the hundreds of members of the Permanent Secretariat staff. Both ingress and egress pathways throughout the complex were considered to ensure adequate facilities, providing efficient travel, were designed into the buildings.

Results of the Planning Commission and Board of Architects and Engineers study to define the requirements for the United Nations Headquarters Complex.

As the interior space concepts evolved, member nations created special gifts to adorn the complex interiors with splendid works of Art representing the many peoples, cultures, and ethnicities represented by the United Nations. These gifts included, both materials for construction and expertise in construction and fabrication, as well as, finished paintings, tapestries, sculptures, and other artifacts. Often these precious objects were the works of great contemporary masters such as Chagall, Miro, Dali, Rockwell, and many others. To this day, member nations continue to donate important, meaningful, dramatic, and of course, beautiful works of art to inspire the UN staff and excite the many thousands of visitors to the complex annually.

The Major Chambers - Economic and Social Council, Trusteeship Council and the Security Council Chamber.

All three of these spaces were designed by Scandinavian designers, primarily at the request of William Harrison, after each Country offered to provide their assistance. Swedish designer Sven Markelius, Danish architect Finn Juhl, and Norway's Arnstein Arneberg are credited with the designs for the Economic and Social, Trusteeship, and Security Council chambers, respectively.

Japanese Peace Bell was gifted to the United Nations in 1964 by the UN Association of Japan.

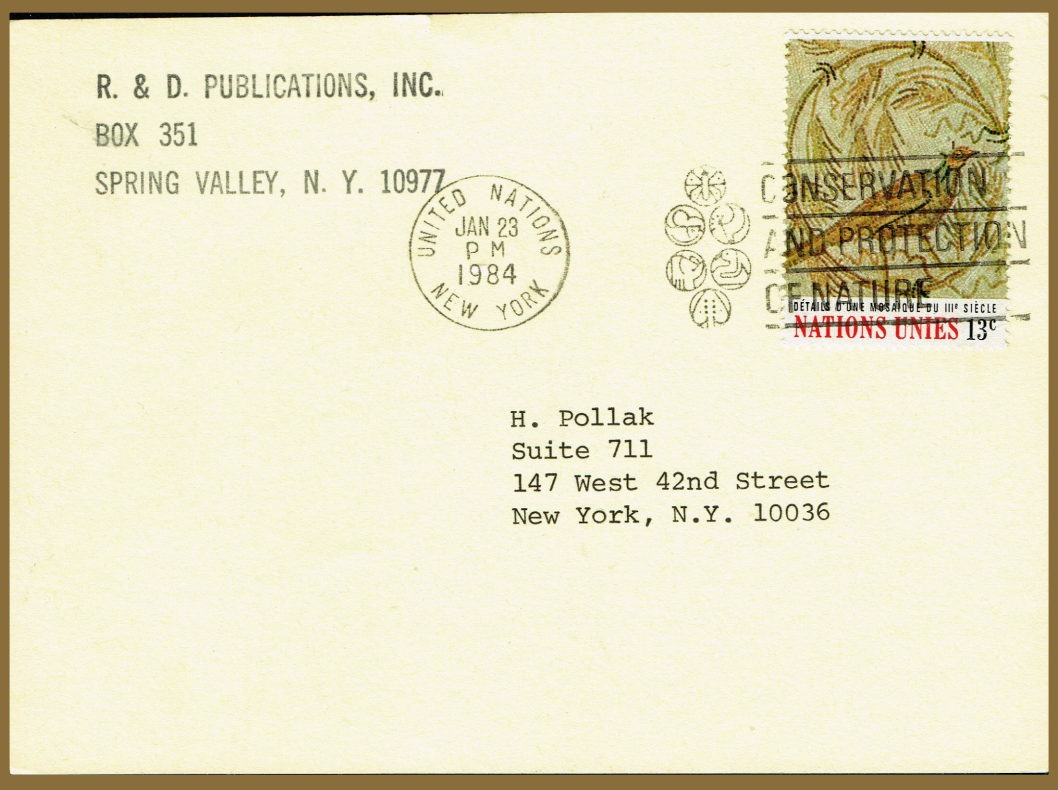

The bell was cast from coins from people in over 60 nations.

The structure surrounding the bell is made of cypress wood in the design of a Shinto Shrine.

The inscription on the bell reads "Long Live Absolute World Peace."

"The Four Seasons and the Genius of the Year," is a third century mosaic which was given to the United Nations by Tunisia in 1961. It is located in the Delegates North lounge at the Headquarters.

First-class card rate paid 13c tied by machine slogan cancel honoring conservation and protection of nature.

Brazilian Peace Mural - entitled "War" and "Peace" were presented to the United Nations by Brazil in 1957. The murals, each measuring 34 by 46 feet, were painted by the late Brazilian artist Candido Portinari. They are located on the east and west walls of the delegates' lobby on the ground floor in the General Assembly building.

16.1 Great Masterpieces from Renowned Artists

General Assembly entrance door bronze reliefs executed in nickel-plated bronze was designed by Ernest Cormier, an architect on the design team. The panels were a gift of Canada.

International Conference on Nuclear Power, Performance & Safety, Vienna, Austria, 1987

The conference took place from September 28 - October 2, 1987 at the Austria Center Vienna. The aim of the conference was to promote an exchange of global information on current trends in nuclear power and safety and their fuel cycle, as well as an outlook on the expectations and objectives of the 1990s. In many countries, policy decisions on waste management have already been taken and in the 1990s this policy should be demonstrated and implemented. As data from a number of countries show, many years of experience in the management of radioactive waste has been gathered and the technology is in place to implement the developed national plans and guidelines. Development of a safety performance methodology and site investigations are key activities for the successful selection, characterization and construction of geological repositories for the disposal of radioactive waste. ## 60 Years of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), Part 5

By Hartmut Hauptmann

2nd International Conference on Nuclear Data for Reactors, Helsinki, 1970

Conference was held June 15-19, 1970 in Helsinki, Finland. Discussed were measurement and analysis of neutron cross-sections, systematic evaluation of fission, capture and inelastic-scattering cross-sections of fissile and fertile nuclei and of capture cross-sections of the main structural materials.

FDC of Finnish Stamp Scott #494, issued for the Conference, June 6, 1970.

4th International Conference on Plasma Physics and Controlled Nuclear Fusion Research, Madison, 1971

Conference was held June 17-23, 1971 in Madison, Wisconsin, USA. The latest research in this area was presented and discussed.

Symposium on Formation of Nuclear Ore Deposits, Athens, 1974

The Symposium, sponsored by the IAEA and the Greek Atomic Energy Agency, was held May 6-10, 1974 in Athens, Greece. In order to find more Uranium ore, a better understanding of how deposits were formed is needed. The current state of knowledge was explored.

5th International Conference on Plasma Physics and Controlled Nuclear Fusion Research, Tokyo, 1974

Special cancel used at Conference, November 10, 1974

Conference was held November 11-15, 1974 in Tokyo, Japan. The latest research in this area was presented and discussed.

International Symposium on Soil Organic Matter Studies (FAO/IAEA, Agrochimica), Braunschweig, West Germany, 1976

The Symposium took place September 6-10, 1976. Questions were raised on the behavior and function of organic matter, the conversion of plant residues and their biodegradation and the conversion of organic nitrogen forms.

Special cancellation for the symposium on philatelic envelope of September 5, 1976. Registry label with overprinted inscription "Special post office".

6th International Conference on Plasma Physics & Controlled Nuclear Fusion Research, Berchtesgaden, West Germany, 1976

Conference was held October 6-13, 1976. The latest research in this area was presented and discussed.

Conference was held August 23-30, 1978.

8th International Conference on Plasma Physics & Controlled Nuclear Fusion Research, Brussels, Belgium, 1980

Conference took place from July 1-10, 1980.

International Conference on Current Nuclear Plant Safety Issues, Stockholm, Sweden, 1980

Conference was held October 20-24, 1980. Of the many security issues that were put up for discussion, the following with particular priority: Aspects of operational security, contingency planning and preparedness, site policy requirements, changes to the system design and improvements, and international cooperation.

International Conference "One Decade after Chernobyl: Summing up the Consequences of the Accident", Vienna, Austria, 1996

The Conference took place April 8-12, 1996. The worst accident in the history of the peaceful use of nuclear energy happened on April 26, 1986 at the Chernobyl nuclear power plant in Ukraine. One of the four reactor blocks was totally destroyed by two explosions and radioactive material polluted the atmosphere across much of the Russian Federation, Belarus and Ukraine. The radioactive cloud reached Central Europe and the North Cape.

economic and safety consequences were discussed at the IAEA conference. The Austrian Research Center Seibersdorf summed up radiation exposure, health effects and safety aspects in November 1996 in the so-called "Seibersdorf Report" 10 years after Chernobyl.

IAEA Laboratories and Institutes

IAEA Laboratory at Seibersdorf, Austria

The IAEA-supported laboratories in Seibersdorf support and implement activities in developing countries and in all member states, such as training, technical services, applied research and development. In particular, the topics in agriculture, food, health, environment and use are being worked on and prepared for nuclear analysis equipment.

Meter used by IAEA Safeguards Analytical Laboratory (SAL) At Seibersdorf, 1982: Used as Receiving Mark

The joint FAO and IAEA department operates five of the eight laboratories in Seibersdorf.

These are the "Insect Pest Control Laboratory", the "Laboratory for Animal Production and Health", the "Plant Breeding and Genetics Laboratory", the "Laboratory for Soil and Water Management and Plant Nutrition" and the "Laboratory for Food and Environmental Protection".

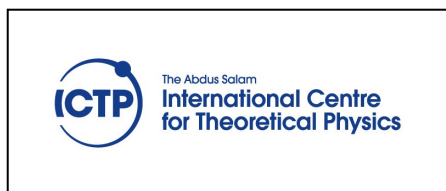

Three other laboratories in Seibersdorf work in the following areas: The "Dosimetry Laboratory" (Safe and Effective Use of Radiation in Cancer Treatment), the "Nuclear Science and Instrumentation Laboratory" and the "Terrestrial Environmental Laboratory".

IAEA/UNESCO International Centre for Theoretical Physics, Trieste, Italy

The International Center for Theoretical Physics (ICTP) is a research institute funded by Italy, UNESCO and IAEA. It promotes the international cooperation of scientists from Third World countries and industrialized countries in the fields of theoretical physics and mathematics. Every year, about 5,000 scientists are invited to study visits and conferences.

Founded in 1964 by the late Nobel Laureate Abdus Salam, ICTP seeks to accomplish its mandate by providing scientists from developing countries with the continuing education and skills that they need to enjoy long and productive careers. ICTP has been a major force in stemming the scientific brain drain from the developing world.

Member Advertisements

Members are reminded that they may submit two philatelic advertisements per year for inclusion in The Journal free of charge. Neither should be more than five lines, one column wide. These will appear in the order received according to the space available.

Prices for Advertisements

- 1 page (6 1/2 x 9") - $40
- 1/2 page (6 1/2 x 4 1/2") - $20
- 1/4 page (6 1/2 x 2 1/4") - $10
- 1/8 page (6 1/2 x 1 1/8") - $5

Run an ad in five consecutive issues, get the sixth one free. Please make check payable to UNPI and send to the Editor. Copy must be photo-ready.

Journal Deadlines

The Journal goes to print on the first day of the month preceding the issue month. The editorial deadline for the April 2019 Journal is February 20, 2019. Material must reach the Editor at least ten days before that deadline. Whether the material submitted will be included in the next Journal depends on space availability and the Editor's discretion. You will be notified when your article will appear.

Submissions should include text (Word document or equivalent) and images (preferably .jpg files) separately. New authors are welcome and assistance will be given if needed.
