EDITOR'S CORNER

First of all, I would like to apologize for the miss-numbered page. Regardless of its cause, as Editor, I am ultimately responsible. There will not be a repeat of this problem.

Having cleared that up I would like to welcome you to our June issue. This edition of the UNP Journal has a number of new items. Our various new columnists, the PREMIER Auction, and the Information Exchange section all make their first appearances in this issue.

I think you will find the changes both useful and enjoyable. One note, we are still looking for more columnists! How about a regular column Mr. Meyer or Mr. Clement? We need columnists for military mail, League material, ICJ, and numerous other areas. Where are you all?

My special thanks to Dr. M. Hardjasudarma for his kindness in allowing us to reprint his excellent article on "The Domestic Postal Money Orders" of UNTEA. In a future issue we will also reproduce his article about the UNTEA post card.

I hope you all enjoy this Journal issue. It was a great pleasure putting it together. It was also a lot of fun seeing such an outstanding collection of auction lots in one location. Take a moment to carefully read through the auction. You won't regret it.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

By B. Clement Jr.

This will be my last message to you as the President of the United Nations Philatelists. It has been a pleasure and a privilege to serve as President for the last four years. Thanks to all my fellow officers and directors, as well as, the Journal editors and committee chairpeople and members for all your cooperation and good work for the UNP. It has been a pleasure to meet many of you at our meetings in New York, Anaheim, Chicago, and Washington.

I am looking forward to seeing the UNP continue to progress under new leadership. Let the new officers know how you would like to serve the UNP, or what the UNP can do for you. I am sure they would be happy to hear from you.

CONFERENCE NEWS

By B. Clement Jr.

The World Conference on Education for All was held in Jomtien, Thailand from March 5 to 9, 1990. The conference was sponsored by the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), UNESCO, UNICEF, and the World Bank. A special conference postmark was used at the conference post office, as shown in Figure 1.

WANT ADS

Wanted: UN forerunner material pre-1952. Clay Wallace, 362 East Ridge Drive, San Ramon, CA 94583.

CLAY'S COVER CORNER

By Clayton Wallace

The goal of this semi-monthly column is to illustrate an interesting cover or two relating to any aspect of United Nations philately. By interesting, I mean anything new or different about the item, not necessarily old or rare. I would like to open this space up to any cover fitting this description that the readership may possess. The main reason for doing this is I probably only have enough material for two or three more columns! However, if you will send me a photocopy of your interesting cover (use a black backing sheet for white paper covers), along with a few lines on why it is interesting, I would be happy to help you ghost write the column.

This issue's cover is from the temporary post office of the 8th West Pacific Regional Council of the World Health Organization of the United Nations, quite a mouthful. The cover is listed in the WHO section of Gaines as RC/W.8 and priced at $10.00. Figure 1.

The conference was held in the hall of the Sir Grantham Training School, Kowloon, Hong Kong, from September 5th to 11th, 1957. The post office was open for only 4 days and closed at 5:00 P.M. on the 10th. Only 53 Registered letters and 120 ordinary letters were posted there on the 5th, 6th, 9th and 10th of September. A special postmark "Kowloon No. 4" was put into use for the occasion.

Needless to say, this cover is far, far rarer than Gaines leads us to believe. The nondescript postmark (e.g. not specifically naming the conference) leads one to believe that very few of the 172 possible items are still available to philately. The illustrated example is the only one of which I am aware. If another exists, I'll be happy to report it. Anyone know of one?

The lesson which I am trying to show is that not everything in the Gaines catalog can be taken at face value. Fortunately, the Editor, Arleigh Gaines, believes his catalog is a dynamic, evolving entity. No single individual can make judgements about every cover and stamp in U.N. philately. Each and every one of us needs to contribute what we have learned to the rest of the readership. I hope this column can provide one forum toward that goal.

Editor's Note: Mr. Wallace's column will be appearing in every issue of the UNP Journal. Please take him up on his offer regarding submission of covers to appear in his column. Photocopies and information can be sent directly to:

The Wonderful World of WFUNA

By Franklin Silverman

This column will be about WFUNA philatelic items, issued by WFUNA, and written by a WFUNA collector. Well, here it goes:

This column will appear in every other issue of the Journal, three times a year, or every four months, I will be unable to report about future events because of the time between the columns.

This column is dedicated to KEITH HARING 1958-1990. In his 32 years of life, he has accomplished what most artists accomplish in a much greater life time. Worldwide fame as a "Pop" artist.

He was also a good friend and supporter of WFUNA. His first art graphic was in 1984 to commemorate International Youth Year. This was the first time I met him at the WFUNA sales counter on the first day ceremony. He was there to sign autographs. The second time I met him was a his studio in Manhattan two months later. I had called him about obtaining an artist proof for my collection and was invited up. I did get one.

In 1988, after the International Volunteer art graphic (his second donation) came out for WFUNA I called his studio again. I was told by an associate to write him a letter. I did write and eventually bought an artist proof of this issue.

If it was not for the WFUNA art graphic program I would not have known whom Keith Haring was.

A few months ago, while shopping in Fort Lee and visiting my parents, I walked into an art gallery. The first Haring WFUNA art graphic was selling for $1,700.00, the second for $1,100.00, framed exquisitely. He was still alive at this time.

May he rest in peace.

UNP INFORMATION EXCHANGE

This is an on-going column to allow members to exchange information about all aspects of UN and UPU philately.

Send all answers to the Editor for publication in future editions of the UNP Journal.

ITEM #1: Do any members have any further information on the whereabouts of the #38 proof sheets sold in the January 18-19, 1989 Cherrystone Auction? Did any further information appear about the supposed $80,000.00 some bidder paid for them?

ITEM #2: I am looking for information on unusual or odd cinderella material relating to the UN or UPU?

ITEM #3: Does anyone have information about sources of Council of Europe stamps and FDC?

SPECIAL NOTICE

We would like to extend our compliments to Mr. Kenneth Blevins for his recent receipt of a silver medal and the Best FDC exhibit award for his first time showing of his #928 FDC cachet collection at Springpex '90 show in Springfield, Virginia.

AUCTION INFORMATION

I would like to announce a major change in the running of the auction. For both the PREMIER and the 1990D Mini Auction, the UNP percentage will be reduced to 10% from 20%. This is a temporary reduction to see if it stimulates consignments and bidding.

If you want the auction percentage to stay at 10% I strongly recommend that you consign more material and bid heavily on everyone else's. This should not be difficult considering the outstanding selection of lots available to us in the PREMIER auction.

I would like to reiterate the need for further consignment material. I do not know how many times I have heard members complain about the huge quantities of excess material they have gathered over the years. Now is the time to think about clearing out those items that hold no interest for you.

I am still looking for further feedback about the idea of having phone bids on the last day of the auction. So far only two people have responded and both believe it would be a good idea. What is the general opinion of our membership? What restrictions should be placed on the bidding? Take a moment and drop me a line about your feelings.

Finally, a little note about lot #26, the Famous "Herb Conway" cover in the 1990B Mini Auction. Folks, that was a joke lot. Would you believe that we received over five bids for that lot and still counting. The consignor, who never believed anyone would bid on the lot, insists that the proceeds go into the UNP general fund.

PUZZLE PAGE

As you may recall, in 1956 Egypt nationalized the Suez Canal. Until then, it had been run by the British and French. One of Nasser's first actions after the nationalization was to deny passage to shops trading with Israel. As a result of these acts, Britain, France, and Israel invaded Egypt to take control of the canal. As victory was in their grasp, the U.N. stepped in. As part of the settlement, soldiers of nine nations were sent to the canal as a peace-keeping force. Those soldiers sent mail, and each nation set up postal services for its own forces. Match the nation with the postmark. All correct entires will be placed in a drawing for a, as yet, unidentified U.N. prize. All entries must be postmarked no later than July 15, 1990.

Our thanks to Dr. M. Hardjasudarma and the Cortland Stamp Club for the puzzle. Any members who would care to create similar puzzles are welcome to submit such to the Editor for inclusion in future UNP Journals.

U.N.T.E.A.
The Domestic Postal Money Orders

by M. Hardjasudarma

Introduction:

According to an agreement signed under the auspices of the United Nations between the Governments of the Republic of Indonesia and the Kingdom of the Netherlands, the Western part of the island of New Guinea was administered by the U.N. from 1 October 1962 until 30 April 1963. This resolved hostilities between the two nations and served as a transitional period between Dutch and Indonesian administrations.

The former Netherlands New Guinea therefore ceased to exist on 1 October 1962, and became the Indonesian province of West Irian (later renamed Irian Jaya) on 1 May 1963. A special U.N. body, U.N.T.E.A. (United Nations Temporary Executive Authority) was formed to administer the area during this seven month period.

For postal purposes 19 different values of Netherlands New Guinea were overprinted with "UNTEA". Four different overprint variants exist, the third and fourth types (so-called "small" and "large" overprints) are rare.

The stamps were initially quite popular, but after some enthusiastic (and now obviously inaccurate) predictions regarding their investment potential, they have been for the most part forgotten.

One particular charge often leveled against issuance of these stamps is that far too many values were overprinted for such a small population (less than one million in 1962) that had only a limited literacy rate. This implies that a major portion of the stamps were made for philatelists only, since the indigenous population had no use for them. While philatelists certainly snapped up a good number of these stamps, a few points in defense of this most interesting issue need to be stated:

1. The 19 values represented types of Netherlands New Guinea definitives still available in significant quantities around the beginning of the UNTEA period. Anybody familiar with the policies of the Dutch postal authorities (P.T.T.) will agree that they have always been known for a rather conservative stamp issuing policy. UNTEA was therefore only continuing the Dutch postal policy in this regard, if anything on an even more conservative scale since none of the then valid Netherlands New Guinea commemoratives were overprinted.
2. Banking facilities being extremely limited or non-existent in large parts of West New Guinea, postal money orders were used in relatively large numbers. This is therefore one area where UNTEA stamps were postally used on a large scale. International and domestic postal money orders are known. This article will only discuss the latter.

Blank money orders were available to the public for a nominal fee at the post offices. These were Netherlands New Guinea forms without overprints or alterations. They were made out of thin cardboard, brownish-grey in color with dark brown lettering. A pale grey security grille was printed on certain parts of the form to facilitate detection of fraudulent alterations. The more commonly used forms measure approximately 17 x 11.5 cm and are either uni-(Dutch) or bilingual (Dutch and Indonesian). Figure 1 is an example of the former, figure 2 of the latter.

Another type, with a somewhat different layout is depicted in figure 3. It is bilingual as well, but lacks the PER LUCHTPOST (By Air Mail) indication.

The fee for mailing money orders was of the sliding scale type, with a minimum of 25¢, and higher according to the amount of money sent.

The sender filled in the amount of money involved (in numbers and in letters), and the name and location of addressee on the front of the form. A vertical 4 x 10.5 cm strip on the left side and forming part of the form was reserved for the addressee, where the following data was entered by sender:

- name and address of sender
- amount of money mailed
- special instructions or information relating to the money transfer.

Unrelated communications were sometimes entered as well. It is therefore clear that even though the primary purpose was the transfer of money, the postal money orders in some respects also served as letters.

A receipt was issued to sender upon payment of money to be transferred plus all postal charges. This receipt is a 12 x 4 cm (approximately) piece of white paper (figure 4) torn from a special register. It contains the name of sender, addressee's location, amount of money transferred and the circular date stamp (CDS) of the office. A carbon copy was made simultaneously and kept by the post office in the special register.

The forms came equipped with a pin perforation (percé en points) between the "strip for addressee" and the remainder. Upon arrival of the money order, addressee separates and keeps this strip. This is why almost all these used postal money orders appear "amputated" on the left side.

If he is literate and in the possession of the necessary identity papers, he goes directly to the post office to cash the money order. If he is not, he first goes to the local authorities in his village or neighborhood to have his fingerprints or signature legalized on the reverse of the money order. All information and documentation regarding pay out of the money order to the addressee are recorded on the reverse of the form as well, and includes the signature of the postal clerk and CDS of the offices of receipt and pay out.

Since postal money orders were sent in much the same way as were registered letters, registration was redundant and was not done. However, by paying an extra fee, they could be sent by special delivery (figures 5a and 5b). Note that despite the urgent nature, payment was only made 11 weeks later, well after the end of the UNTEA period. (Kotabaru was the name initially used by Indonesia to replace Hollandia).

Money orders could also be sent from small rural sub post offices (figure 6). In this case payment including postal fees were made locally in Mindiptana, the f 1. – postage stamp affixed and cancelled in the nearest large town (Merauke) four days later, and sent on to Fakfak.

The large rubber stamps so characteristic of the small rural sub postal stations were used well after the end of UNTEA, but only after removal of the words Netherlands New Guinea (figure 7).

The smaller post offices sometimes did not have enough cash available to pay out the larger money orders. Figure 8a shows the front of a relatively large money order (f 795.-). This was sent from Hollandia Noordwijk on 15.3.63, and received a transit CDS of the Hollandia GPO on 16.3.63. Arrival in Enarotali was on 25.3.63 (figure 8b, upper right. This is a Dutch cancel). On 16.4.63 a handwritten note in Indonesian across the top of the front (figure 8a) states that: "Payment at Biak Post Office is authorized since Ena (rotali) Post Office has insufficient funds." An Enarotali CDS accompanies this information. The addressee finally receives his money on 1.7.63, presumably after Enarotali Post Office received funds from Biak. (Figure 8b, lower right. This is now an Indonesian Enarotali CDS. Note the difference with the one in the upper right hand corner which is Dutch). The form is then sent on to Biak for administrative purposes. (Biak CDS 12. 7.63 on reverse, center top, figure 8b).

Pay out was authorized by the head of the local government at Waghete. Note that the local authority used the Dutch rubber stamp after excision of its center which consisted of the Dutch coat of arms.

Finally, the occasional official postal money orders are known. One is shown in figure 9. It was mailed from Biak on 10.4.63 to Kotabaru Irian (Hollandia). In the space for stamps (upper right) the following had been typewritten: Bebas bea/R.vrij. The first two Indonesian words mean Free of Duty. It is possible that "P" should have been used rather than "R", in which case the Dutch words P(ort)vrij would have meant the same thing. □
