COVER DESCRIPTION

OUTSIDE FRONT: UNPA New York & Geneva strips for the 1992 Human Rights issue. Thank God it's over!

OUTSIDE BACK: Silver Medal certificate from the Cardinal Spellman Philatelic Museum Philatelic Literature Fair (1993).

EDITOR'S CORNER

I am sorry that this issue is reaching you a little late in the listed month of issue. I unfortunately sprained my back and it was a couple of weeks before I could sit at the computer again for any length of time.

Our thanks to Mr. Anthony F. Dewey for hearing our request for manuscripts and providing us with an excellent write-up on a new subtype of the Type I precancel.

We continue to look for new material to publish so consider submitting something today. Even Nic-Nac items are greatly appreciated.

Along with a very nice auction, we have articles from Clay Wallace and M. Hardjasudarma in their fields of interest. We also have a nice offering of new literature and some old items at reduced prices.

At the request of several members I have taken the time to more completely address my sudden departure from Linn's Stamp News in my AT ISSUE column. If you do not understand what happen after this you are out of luck.

I need some information on the whereabouts of the one known example of the full sheet of the 1.5 cent precancel. If anyone knows who has it please contact me.

I am pleased to announce that our club's publication received a silver medal at the Cardinal Spellman Philatelic Museum's Philatelic Literature Fair. So I guess we are improving since we won a silver-bronze in the 1991 fair. A picture of the award is on the outside back cover of this issue.

Someone recently sent me a copy of Bruce Moyer's sales ad for the UNNY #38 at $99.00 plus $3.00 postage. He considers this a "Price Breakthrough" and "the lowest price in 20 years." I wonder if anyone should tell him that #38s have been selling in auctions at between $80 and $90 for the last several years. Not the mention discussing with him the ethics behind truth in advertising.

I understand that Mr. Moyer obtained these #38s just after an individual read my article on them in Linn's and offered 200 of them on the dealer's circuit for $50.00 each (incidentally, exactly the realistic price I quoted in my article).

AUCTION INFORMATION

By Alex Bereson

June's auction has a nice group of New York Definitive printings, UNTEA, UPU delegation folders, UNESCO proofs, and misc. other specialized material. If there is a particular category of U.N. philately that you would like to see in the auction please let me know and I will try to solicit consignors for that area.

Please send your requests for photocopies as early as possible and remember that all high bids are reduced to one step above the second highest bid.

Hope you find some nice additions to your collection.

By Clayton Wallace

I am writing this column during the first few warm days of spring in my area. I know that by the time this column actually reaches you that summer will be upon all of us. Traditionally this means the albums and tongs are shelved until the Fall. However there is one important matter I need to call to your attention - the announcement for the UNP yearly meeting.

It has been decided it is time to revisit New York. So please make plans to attend our next annual meeting at the ASDA Postage Stamp Mega-Event at the Jacob J. Javits Convention Center. The tentative date is October 30, 1993. More information will follow.

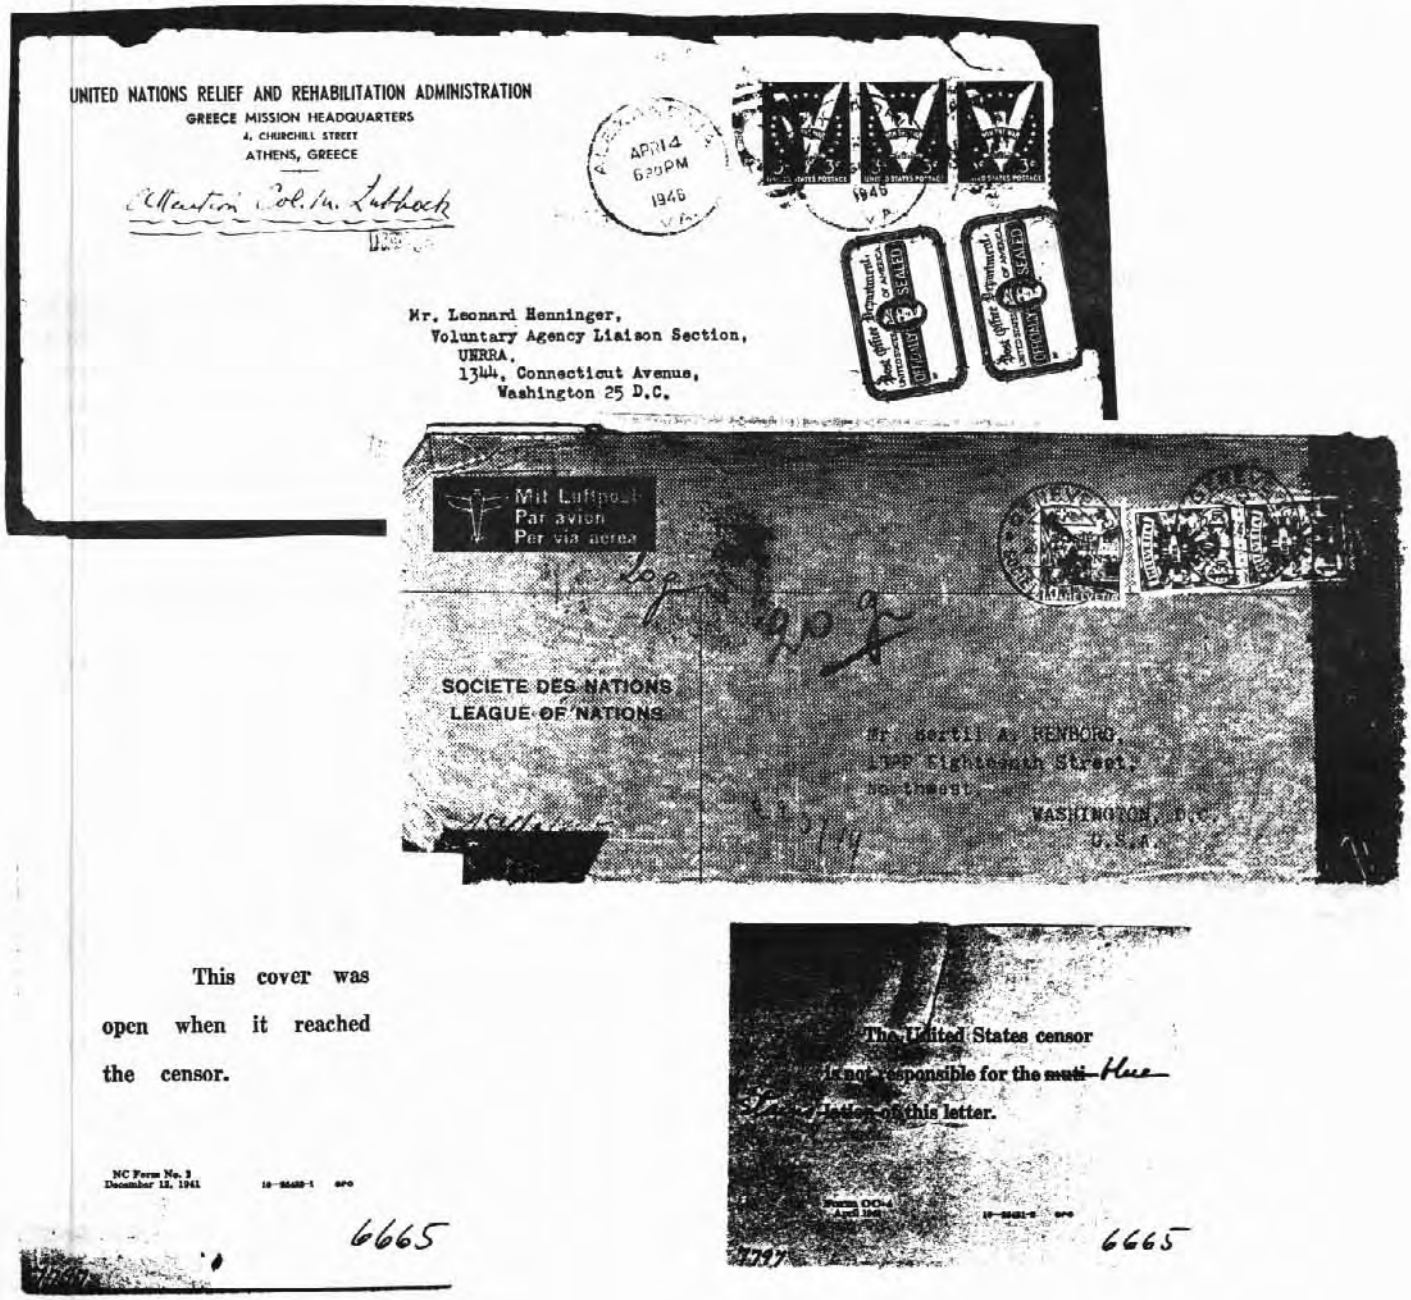
CLAY'S COVER CORNER #10

By Clayton Wallace

Auxiliary markings are an interesting aspect of cover collecting that gets very little attention in U.N. philately. We are often so interesting in the stamp, or the address or the corner card that we completely ignore the other aspects of the cover, that make it truly interesting. Take for example Figure #1, a fascinating cover from UNRRA Greece. Presumably it was carried by diplomatic bag to the United States where the stamps were added and it was sent to a section of UNRRA in Washington D.C. The cover was badly mangled in transit and official seals were added by the post office department. Two light purple strikes above and below the address explain the damage: "Damaged by Cancelling machine."

Another fascinating cover is shown in Figure #2. On November 26, 1942, Sfr. 3.10 carried this envelope weighting 20 grams from the League Headquarters in Switzerland to Bertil Renborg. At this time, Bertil Renborg was working at the Opium Supervisory Body and Permanent Central Opium Board Branch Office in Washington D.C. The cover has undergone military censorship by both the United States and German authorities . Attached to the envelope by a paper clip are two notes, Figures #3 & #4, "The United States censor in not responsible for the blue stains of this letter" (the term "mutilation" has been crossed out) and "This cover was open when it reached the censor."

On each cover the auxiliary markings have enhanced our interest in these precious pieces of history.



UNTEA CORNER #10

By M. Hardjasudarma

A small Royal Canadian Air Force (RCAF) contingent, 12 officers and men, drawn from 116 Air Transport Unit, served in West New Guinea during UNTEA. Together with an American unit, they provided logistical air support for the U.N. Security Forces.

They received mail through postal headquarters in Belleville (sp?), Ontario, Canada. Outgoing mail went via postal facilities in Biak, initially PAK.APO 115 of the Pakistani Army contingent, and later the UNTEA Base Post Office. The distinctive rectangular rubber stamp on some of their mail (Figure 1) was made privately. It was not made or ordered by UNTEA or the RCAF.

Most mail in the hands of philatelists exists thanks to the efforts of R.K. Malott, now a retired Major of the RCAF, who had approximately twenty-five items made (Figure 2) with the help of a Canadian Forces contact in West New Guinea.

Recently a different item has come to light. This is a letter from an RCAF Sergeant written on a U.N. Forces airletter sheet (Figure 3), and franked with a U.S. stamp. The cancel is of APO 74 (Clark Field in the Philippines). The letter was routed via San Francisco.

Figure 3: An unreported mode of mail transportation, i.e. via the Philippines and San Francisco. Cancel: Army-Air Force Post Service, dated March 24, 1963 using military APO 74.

It can be argued that this APO 74 airletter sheet is non-philatelic, despite the fact that it was addressed to a stamp collector. However, none of the above letters are otherwise "commercial", and indeed, I have not seen any non-philatelic mail of the Canadian Forces during UNTEA. Any information in this regard would be very welcome.

SPECIAL CHAPTER ANNOUNCEMENT

The Midwest United Nations Collectors Club, a chartered chapter of the UNP, is launching a 20th anniversary membership campaign. The organizational meeting of the MUNC was held in Lincoln, NE in 1973.

The purpose of the MUNC is "to endeavor to unite, through it's activities, persons residing in the Iowa-Nebraska area and surrounding states, who are interested in advancing United Nations philately, and to provide a structure in which such persons may exchange information and philatelic material, thereby promoting good fellowship and the interests of United Nations philately.

Programs about U.N. philatelic material and auctions have been held at MUNC meetings in connection with stamp shows in Lincoln, Kansas City and Des Moines. Local (city) groups meet between stamp shows to exchange and learn more about the United Nations.

For information and an application form write to Wilma Hinrichs at 4200 S.E. Indianola Road, Des Moines, Iowa 50320.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Membership in all chapters is open to all UNP members under the by-laws of the UNP and the Chapter affiliation rules.

AT ISSUE

By Mark Steven Corrinet

Per the request of several of our members I am trying to provide a more complete explanation of my departure from Linn's.

In his December Linn's column "The Insider", Les Winick made a number of unresearched and unsupported ascertains about the sell out of the .29 cent "Mission to Planet Earth" sheetlet. His basic argument boiled down to the ascertain that U.N. collecting is not popular enough to have a sell-out, so the issue must have been bought out by a dealer or syndicate with the intention of cornering the market.

After personally talking with Winick and confirming his lack of research (he talked to one UNPA sales clerk at a show who told him "that the UNPA did not know why the stamp sold out") I wrote a rebuttal for my February 1993 column (My columns were submitted one month in advance).

At the direct orders of Michael Lawrence, Managing Editor of Linn's, the entire section of my column dealing with Winick's ascertains was edited out. The first time anything had been edited out of the column in the entire two and half years I wrote for Linn's with the exception of basic grammar edits.

Upon being notified of this blatant form of censorship I contacted Lawrence directly in late January. His entire reasoning was that he did not want his columnists appearing to contradict each other, or worst, seeming to attack each other's viewpoints. The conversation was heated, but civil. We parted agreeing to disagree. I acknowledged his right as Managing Editor to make what cuts he desired, however ill-chosen, and I thought the matter was closed.

I subsequently provided my written material to Bruce Moyer, the United Nations Dealer, who writes for the Global Stamp News with the hope that someone would call Winick to task for his shoddy work. Instead, I notice that Moyer, in a recent article, is trying to push the price up by continuing Winick's ascertains despite that fact that all other writer's in our field have written articles proving the logic of a real sellout without dealer manipulation.

Apparently, Lawrence did not feel the way I did about the conversation's end and immediately proceeded to offer my position to Arleigh Gaines without any notice to me that I was fired. In fact, the appearance of my March column was a mistake, I was to be fired before it's appearance.

I was notified that I was terminated during a phone conversation with my own editor in early March while I was confirming the receipt of my April and May articles.

What have I gained and learned by my experience? First, I had the opportunity to fulfill a childhood dream of writing the Linn's U.N. column like Herb Conway. A man I have admired for over twenty years. I also gained a number of new friends and contacts through the resulting correspondence generated by my articles. And, I had the chance to clean up some old mysteries in our field.

On the opposite side I was disillusioned with the UNPA's unwillingness to come to my defense given the fact that the issue causing my termination was my defense of their product line. It is an important lesson to learn that one should never defend someone that is unwilling to defend themselves.

I have grown disgusted with the politics of our hobby. Winick's actions were without merit, yet he got away with it. Although, I do not find it surprising that he has been called to task by an number of other collectors for some of his other recent articles. And I find Lawrence's actions still stinking of censorship and petty ego. His willingness to sacrifice the truth in his support of our hobby's "Good Old Boy Network" is appalling. It is regretable that none of our hobby's publications seems to be interested in anything but supporting the dealer's desires for increased sales and thus supporting their advertising rates.

I am very tired of people lying to the members of our hobby for personal gain. It is pathetic to watch Gaines trying to convince the public that his catalog pricing is valid. Even Scott, an entrenched dinosaur, realized it was time to change back in 1988, why can't Arleigh? I am also tired of seeing Bruce Moyer shamelessly promoting his own company while supposidly writing philatelic articles. Why doesn't Global Stamp News just run his articles under the "Paid Advertisement" heading?

Admittedly Global Stamp News is basically a rag sheet for promoting dealer ads, but how many generations of collectors do we have to go through before we all realize this type of hype-selling is just another form of con job?

I made a promise to our current President Clayton Wallace, that I would continue as Editor of the Journal until the end of his tenure - June 1994. I have six issues after this one to complete, ending on issue #100. And I will continue to scream to high heaven about what is wrong with our hobby until then. At the end of this tenure I am leaving organized philately for good - returning to being a collector and nothing more. As I said before, there is no valid reason to defend someone who will not defend themselves. And while I hear lots of support for my viewpoints privately, I do not see a lot of public outcry!

NEW PRECANCEL COVER SUB-TYPE DISCOVERED

By Anthony F. Dewey

A precancel cover that I recently acquired turns out to be a new sub-type of the Type I (UNESCO) cover. The cover, as illustrated in Figure 1, was purchased for $10.00 from a stamp dealer at a local stamp bourse. Wary of forgeries I gave the cover my usual "field test" to determine if it was one of the more obvious fakes. The stamp easily passed all the tests, but doubts remained about the cover itself. The indicia "SEC. 34.66, P.L. & R." was at the top center of the envelope and the letters of the corner card seemed worn. However, the piece could not be easily dismissed as a fake since the stamp looked good and the envelope contained a flyer advertising the UNESCO Courier, an enclosure appropriate for this mailing. I also recalled the cautionary note regarding precancel covers in the Gaines catalog "All types not described here should be suspect, although not dismissed completely without consulting an expert."

I took the cover home and compared it to other Type I covers that had already been certified as genuine. Also included in the comparison were some Type I covers that had not yet been submitted for authentication. I carefully noted many traits of each cover. When done with this examination the covers fell into two distinct groups, one included certified covers and the other contained the new piece and one other cover. I summarized my findings and sent them along with the covers to Gaines, where the authenticity of these covers was verified. Gaines also agreed that the new cover was a distinct sub-variety of Type I precancel covers. Expecting Gaines to follow the numbering pattern used with other precancel cover sub-types, I will refer to the cover described in the catalog as Type I1 and the new discovery as Type I2 in the following detailed description of the differences between types.

DIFFERENCES IN THE ENVELOPE

While both cover types measure 4 and 1/8th inches (approx. 105mm) in height, the I1 covers are a bit wider measuring 9 and 1/2 inches (a little over 241mm) verses 9 and 7/16th inches (approx. 240mm). The "cut" of the envelopes also differs in that the side flaps forming the back of the envelope are an eighth of an inch (appox. 3mm) longer on the I1 covers. The paper used on the I1 covers is thinner, whiter and of a finer quality than that on either of the I2 coves in my possession. Also, the paper used for the I1 covers bears a double-line watermark "NATIONAL/PARCHMENT/RAG CONTENT", shown as Figure 3. No watermark was evident on any of the I2 covers.

The rubber stamp indicia "SEC. 34.66, P.L. & R." which appears directly under the stamp on all of the I1 covers (Figure 4) observed, is placed differently on the I2 covers (Figure 5) that I have seen.

On all but one of the I2 covers the indicia is placed at the top and center of the cover. On the remaining cover it appears on the right-hand side of the envelope, but about 3/4ths of the way down the side, far below the stamp. The indicia on the new variety is smaller than on the current Type I1 cover. Its length, measured from the lower serif of the "S" to, and including the period following the "R", is slightly less than 38mm versus 40mm. The height, measured at the "E" is 2.75mm as compared to 3mm for the I1 variety.

The color of the indicia on all Type I2 covers available for examination is purple, which is within the range of colors known for the established variety. The indicia on the new variety exhibited very little evidence of boxes around the letters, which is common on Type I1 covers.

DIFFERENCES IN THE CORNER CARD

The most striking and noticeable differences appear in the corner cards (cc) of the two types. First, the lengths of the three lines in the corner cards differ slightly. The first, second and third lines measured 22.0mm, 29.5mm and 20.0mm respectively for the Type I1 (Figure 6) corner cards. The Type I2 corner cards (Figure 7) measured 22.5mm, 29.5mm and 20.0mm.

The lines of the cc on the I2 covers are closer together measuring 11.5mm (from the top of the "C" in "UNESCO" to the bottom of the "R" in "NEW YORK") as opposed to 12.75mm for the I1 covers. Also, some of the letters in the I2 covers may be deformed, whereas all letters in the I1 covers are clean and sharp. The degree of deformity varies, but the following letters were affected on all observed covers. In "UNESCO" the "foot" of the "E" is short and the bottom of the "C" is clipped making the letter appear tipped to the right. In "NATIONS" the "I" is badly rounded at both the top and the bottom. In "NEW" the left arm of the "W" appears thin. The corner card on both types was printed by letterpress. The characteristic debossing appears on the inside of the envelope and sometimes on the back of the envelope and even on the flap.

CENSUS

So, how common is the new variety? After examining the UNESCO covers in my collection and a number loaned to me by Henry Gitner, the photocopies in my reference file, and illustrations in auction catalogs I found 43 usable examples. Of these, 35 are of the Type I1 and 8 are Type I2. Thus, from this small, but representative, sample I can conclude that approximately one out of every five UNESCO covers, or less than 19% is the new variety. To put this in perspective, only three covers in this sample are of the "no comma (nc)" variety representing only 7% (none of which was a Type I2 cover). What does this mean to the value? For the answer I suggest we look to future supplements of the Gaines catalog.

CONCLUSION

I am currently developing a working theory on the reason for this new subtype. I would appreciate assistance from other members by asking them to send me clear photocopies of their Type I covers, front and back, any contents, and any certification information.

And as a student of the precancel in general, I would appreciate any photocopies of any other precancels that you may have. I will be more than happy to reimburse members for postage and photocopy costs. And thank you for making it possible to continue my research.

UNITED NATIONS LITERATURE

By Mark Steven Corrinet

I have had several requests by members to list items in this new section of the UNP Journal. So effective immediately any member may send any literature they have for sale to Mark Steven Corrinet, Post Office Box 1305, Benicia, CA 94510-4305, USA.

Please enclose a list of the contents along with the price the item is being offered at. I will generally try to run the item until it sells, but in no case more than four issues. The club will take a 10% cut on any sales, the funds to be given to the general fund.

Anything that is a document or publication may be listed in this section of the Journal. Do not send any philatelic items, those belong in the auction run by Alex Bereson (see address later in this issue). Runs of other club publications, documents from the United Nations, the League of Nations or their related agencies, books about the U.N., League, etc., old Borak or Lindner catalogs or other similar type of material would be perfect for this section.

Condition is important in regards to completeness. Missing or badly damaged pages tend to remove the value of a particular item.

Do not send runs of the UNP Journal or copies of Gaines Catalogues. I will list such an offering, but I do not wish to have my home filled up with common items. Incidentally, the going price for a comply run of UNP Journals is around $85 to $100.

If you have questions about pricing please feel free to call me any evening at (707) 747-1481. I will assist you as best as I can.

CLEAN OCEANS AND EARTH SUMMIT STAMPS HELD OVER

In accordance with current UNPA procedures, the last day of sale of the "Clean Oceans" stamps was scheduled for March 13, 1993, while the "Earth Summit" stamps were scheduled to be withdrawn from sale on May 22, 1993.

In 1993, the United Nations Postal Administration will participate in a United Nations Pavilion at Taejon International Exposition, to be held in the Republic of Korea, from August 7 to November 7, 1993. The U.N. Pavilion core exhibit will be on Environment and Development to correlate with the central theme of the Taejon Exposition "The Challenge of a New Road to Development."

Since the "Clean Oceans" and the "Earth Summit" stamps relate to the theme of the Pavilion, it has been decided that it would be most appropriate to have these stamps available during the exposition.

For this reason, the last day of sale of both these issues will be December 31, 1993, subject to availability of stock.

OFFICIAL VIENNA CACHET

A new official cachet of the Vienna headquarters will be available for sale on March 1, 1993.
